

syracuse.com

Bill Cosby hit with new sex assault claim within statute of limitations

Bill Cosby

In this Nov. 18, 2013 file photo, actor-comedian Bill Cosby poses for a portrait in New York. (Victoria Will | Invision via The Associated Press)

Ben Axelson | baxelson@syracuse.com By Ben Axelson | baxelson@syracuse.com

Follow on Twitter

on December 16, 2014 at 10:24 AM, updated December 18, 2014 at 2:44 PM

Another woman has come forward claiming that Bill Cosby drugged and sexually assaulted her, and this claim is believed to be the first one within the statute of limitations.

In an exclusive interview, Chloe Goins, a 24 year old model and lap dancer from Las Vegas, told The Daily Mail that the incident took place at a 2008 party at the Playboy mansion.

Goins claims that she and a friend were given drinks by the comedian, who was also at the party. Then she began to feel ill.

"Everything kind of went a little foggy, I started feeling sick to my stomach, and just dizzy," Goins told the Daily Mail. She said Cosby brought her to a spare room offered by Hugh Hefner.

"He had his arm around me to show me the way and I did notice he had been paying me a little more attention than my friend, but never thought anything of it," Goins told the Mail.

The next thing she claims to remember is waking up naked with Cosby licking her toes.

"[Bill Cosby] was at my feet, kind of licking and kissing them and I think he bit my toe as that's what woke me up," Goins said. Cosby allegedly left abruptly and Goins and her friend left shortly thereafter.

"We were young, we wanted to be Playboy models," Goins told the Mail. "I was scared about saying anything about what happened, especially as it was at the Playboy mansion because it's known for naughty stuff."

Goins lawyer has contacted the Los Angeles Police Department, and Goins plans to make a full statement soon.

"This isn't something I really wanted out there about myself, but I saw all the women who had come forward, over 20 women and it grossed me out," Goins said. "I feel he needs to pay for it, he deserves to pay for it."

Goins clarified that she doesn't believe she was raped, "but at the same time it was a f---ed up situation."

In the past few weeks, Cosby has faced some two dozen allegations of drugging, sexual assault and in some cases rape.

One accuser, Judy Huth, alleged that Cosby assaulted her when she was just 15 years old in 1974. This week, TMZ reported that a child psychologist validated her claims of childhood sexual abuse, but did not say who did it.

Huth is suing Cosby even though its now well outside the statute of limitations. Cosby has argued that Huth is attempting to extort him and has asked for the case to be dismissed.

Over the weekend, Cosby at last broke his silence about the wave of allegations against him, urging "the black media" to approach the claims with a "neutral mind." Cosby also praised his wife, Camille, who made her own statement about the allegations on Monday.

"None of us will ever want to be in the position of attacking a victim," Camille Cosby said, "But the question should be asked—who is the victim?" suggesting that her husband, not the accusers, is the party being harmed.

© 2014 syracuse.com. All rights reserved.